PROVO POINTS.

The ice harvest is fairly commenced.
The schools in Provo begin the new year under favorable circumstances.

The Liberals have selected J. D.
Jones, a Republican, for the President to appoint probate judge of Utah County.

The non-arrival of THE HERALD by the Sunday morning's mail, came near creating a panic in Provo. The papers, came, however, in the afternoon, and we were able to enjoy ourselves at the evening meetings.

The contract for furnishing seventy-five tons of ice at the Insane Asylum was awarded to Charlie Turner and David Bennett, on Saturday, at 90 cents per ton, this being 1 cent. per ton lower than any other bid.

A LOCAL paper innocently asks the question, "are the sources of local information frozen up?" and then goes on to answer the question in the negative and says, "there are no sources to freeze up." That paper is all right.

Edgar Edward Stevenson lectured in the Tabernacle on Sunday and Monday nights on the early history of Mormonism. These lectures were illustrated with paintings of the Hill Cumorah and other scenes which made them of more than usual interest.

The indications now are that the Democratic Party, or "Sage Brushers," as they choose to call themselves, will take a more prominent part in future elections. Being organized too late to expect their organization to become general until the people become better informed in Democratic doctrines. The fact that a few votes were cast for the Democratic ticket proves there are voters in nearly every precinct in the Territory not under the control of the political bosses of either the People's or the Liberal Party. The Tribune claims that Utah can never be admitted as a State while these old local parties continue, and as a matter of course, the Tribune will continue to advocate the perpetuation of old party lines.
